

Privateering the High Seas

Connect-the-Dots

During the beginning of the Revolutionary War, the Americans were outmatched on the high seas. As a result, they hired pirates, known as Privateers, in order to attack British shipping vessels for financial gain. Unlike pirates however, Privateers were required to carry a "Letter of Marque" and a "Letter of Reprisal," in order continue their legal "piracy."

Connect the numbered dots below to reveal the Privateer's preferred method of transportation!

